Comment: "Dear IPUC I realize that you have gone over this case, but I must add my voice to ask again about this period of limbo for new customers. I want the company where we purchased our solar panels to not only be there in the future for me, but for the environment I want the company to grow and thrive. However as Idaho Power takes their time on doing the study you are requesting (I am very thankful you are asking for a good study), it just leaves everyone in limbo. Please, please, please, think again about allowing future customers into the fair and simple one-for-one credit net-metering policy, until the public workshops and cost-benefit study are complete. Thank you for your time."
