Comment: "I have lived in my home for over 36 years and have never required or needed upgrades to existing lines. I am retired and on a fixed income that doesn't stretch far enough. Infrastructure for new growth should be an obligation of the developer and passed on to the new subdivisions that now occupy farmland. Seniors can not afford to support new growth for all utility companies. Include those costs in the cost of the lot they are building on and how about posting signs at Idaho borders that the State is full. I am strongly opposed to this rate increase, as it will take funds away from my grocery and prescription budget. Then, who will help me? No one."
