Good morning Jan,

It appears that this was supposed to be a comment on PAC-E-22-15. Can you please add it to the case please?

Thank you!

Idaho Public Utilities Commission

I am enclosing my recent letter to Rocky Mountain Power concerning the proposed changes to the Residential Rates.

According to the information letter from Rocky Mountain Power "energy charges will be lowered accordingly to keep the overall revenue coming to the utility the same."

A following statement says "the customer service charge for the two residential rate schedules, which will allow energy charges to be reduced."

As you can see from my letter this does not seem to be the case.

Sincerely

Carl L. Day

I have been reviewing the proposal to "Modernizing Residential Rates". Using my usage figures for March 2023 it seems the proposal is designed to adjust for Solar panel and time of day effect on Income.

Using March 2023 usage of 113 kwh on Peak and 157 kwh off Peak I come up with the following:

At the end of the 5 year use cost would be $54.92 vs $37.48 today's Bill,

Looking at time of day off peak Winter, in 5 years proposed cost will be $54.92. Using the proposed winter season 1st tier energy charge the cost would be $48.73. It looks to me as if Rocky Mountain Power is trying to discourage Time of Day usage. Of course these figures do not include any rate increases you will apply for in the next 5 years.

If these figures are not accurate please let me know.

Sincerely

Carl L. Day
