Subject: I Object to Hydro One acquiring Avista!

Dear Kristine:

Hydro One doesn't keep electric rates in Canada low, and it will not keep rates low here in America. High electric rates, foreign owners, and little or no local control makes for a BAD deal.

According to the 2015 Ontario Auditor General Report Hydro One is not a very good utility operator, with increasingly unreliable service and a maintenance backlog of C$4.4 Billion.

Thank you for voting NO DEAL !

Dear Commissioner,

I strongly object to the selling of an American utilities company to a foreign country, thus taking control out of local hands and putting the Northwest at the mercy of a foreign power!

Most Sincerely,
Patricia Rodgers

I would like to weigh-in on the sale of Avista to HydroOne.

The first consideration immediately coming to mind was "SECURITY." No nation can truly be secure in its electrical grid when it turns over ANY portion of it to an organization that is FOREIGN. This seems as though it would be a no-brainer; however, here we are, once again discussing it as though there is something positive about it. This issue alone is the most important to consider; however, if you look at the history of HydroOne and the customers it serves in its own country, I believe you will understand that this corporation is ONLY out for one thing — money. I have read about the huge rate increases they have put into effect and how it has hurt the people.

PLEASE do not allow this sale to go through.

Thank you for your consideration.
